

How do I safely and effectively use/ignite an Orion handheld marine signal?

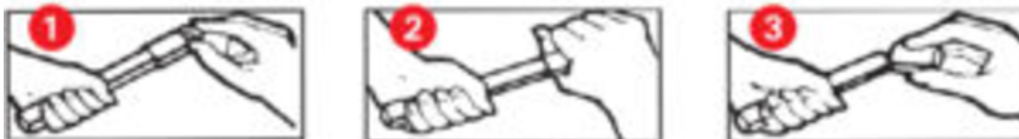

Orion sells two different types of marine handheld signals:

- Handheld red signal flares which are USCG approved for day and night use.
- Handheld orange smoke flares which are USCG approved for daytime use only.

Whether we are talking about Orion handheld red flares or orange smoke flares, both are ignited in the same manner. Before buying, using, or storing any Orion handheld marine signals, make certain all cautions, warnings, and use instructions are read, understood, and followed.

Use Instructions:

1. Grasp bottom of flare below the holding line on the label. Remove the black lid on the cap.
2. Twist cap, remove, and save to ignite flare. Point flare away from your face and body. Aim downward.
3. In a downward motion, strike the black igniter button on top of the flare with the abrasive red phosphorus sticker on the cap. Hold burning flare over the side of the boat. Do not wave overhead. Avoid breathing smoke.
