Aquila sailing catamarans are thoughtfully designed around how people actually spend time aboard. Four connected social zones that bring everyone together, a fixed bow cockpit that's actual living space, and private cabins with their own entrances and ensuites. Sail handling is arranged around the helm so the boat sails as easily as it lives.

Welcome to the Show!

It's October in Annapolis, and the sailing world once again converges on City Dock for the premier international sailboat show in North America. On behalf of the Annapolis Boat Shows team, I'm pleased to welcome you to the 2026 Annapolis Sailboat Show.

This year's show features a dynamic mix of vessels, from bluewater-ready monohulls to more than 60 multihulls. Whether you're in the market for a new boat or here to explore the latest in sailing gear, accessories, and equipment, there's no better place to find it all in one location.

If you've visited Annapolis before, you'll notice that City Dock looks a little different this year. The City Dock Resiliency Project is well underway, and the work happening now will help protect the historic downtown waterfront from flooding for generations to come. We are grateful to the City of Annapolis for working closely with our team to keep the show in its home on the water throughout construction, and we thank our neighbors and downtown businesses for their patience as this important project moves forward. Please take a moment to review the show map. New to the show this year is the Engine & Performance Tent, along with an Electronics and Equipment tents.

Racing fans can explore high-performance dinghies and monohulls and connect with organizations advancing the sport, including US Sailing. Vacation Basin, sponsored by Cruising World, returns with charter and fractional ownership options and vacation destinations, and 30+ sailing YouTubers will be on hand for meet-and-greets throughout the weekend.

Educational opportunities remain a cornerstone of the show. Cruisers University and the First Sail Workshop offer training tailored to every level of sailor. Daily free seminars will also be available, offering practical insights from experienced cruisers and industry professionals.

Local food and drink are available throughout the show, including freshly shucked oysters, Maryland crabcakes, and the ever-popular painkiller. And don't forget about pit beef sandwiches at the Fleet Reserve Club. After hours, downtown Annapolis offers an unbeatable waterfront backdrop for dining, shopping, and celebrating with your crew.

Thank you for joining us in America's Sailing Capital. We hope this year's show inspires your next adventure.
